WHAT WE DO

The Education Representation Project (ERP) of Legal Services of New Jersey provides advice and legal representation in education matters for low-income parents and students.

The Education Representation Project can provide assistance in civil education matters, including the following areas:

- School Registration
- Transportation
- Student Records
- Attendance Matters
- Discipline Matters
- Bullying
- Disability Accommodations
- Special Education
- Early Intervention Services
- Bilingual Education
- Abbott Rights
- School Transfers
- Remedies given under No Child Left Behind

If your child is faced with any of these issues or you think your child's right to a free public education is being violated, contact your local Legal Services office at the number and address listed on the back and let them know you would like to receive assistance from the ERP.

TRANSLATION SERVICES

Interpreters and translation services are available in all languages.

HOW THE ERP CAN HELP YOU

Examples of some of the education issues the ERP can provide assistance with:

Special Education: Disputes regarding eligibility, educational plans (IEPs), related services, placement, and discipline of children receiving special education.

School Registration: Disputes regarding school enrollment, residency, immediate enrollment pending residency determinations, rights of homeless students, and rights of students to remain in their current school until a hearing is held to determine a change in residency.

Discipline: Disputes about improper school suspensions, excessive discipline actions, and educational services during the period of suspension/discipline.

Early Intervention: Assisting parents to get help for children from birth to age three with developmental delays or certain medical conditions.

No Child Left Behind: Assisting children who attend school districts that have performed poorly on state testing to get remedies provided under the No Child Left Behind Act, such as transferring to another school and tutoring services.
